

Map of the British Isles, showing the main islands of Great Britain and Ireland, with numerous place names and geographical features. The map is oriented with North at the top. A small inset map in the upper left corner shows the location of the British Isles within the context of the surrounding European continent. The map is framed by a double-line border. At the bottom, there is a title block with text in both English and Gaelic, and a scale bar.